Tara Marie Drummond was born in Abilene, Texas in 1982 and moved to Georgia with her family in 1995. She was never married and did not have children, but she was the “single-parent” of her Yellow Lab “Daisy”. She spoiled “Daisy” and dressed her collar and toy with a lot of friendship, her

The BUTTERFLY

Tara loved life and lived it to it’s fullest. She was a such a “free-spirit” that her body could not contain her

First, a Butterfly is one of God’s most beautiful creatures, as is Tara;

Second, a Butterfly is marvelously graceful, as is Tara;

Next, a Butterfly does it's job while never really bothering anyone, as does Tara;

A Butterfly seemingly has no predetermined course or destination, they are just going from place to place;

A Butterfly always just seems to be enjoying life while we watch anxiously, as does Tara;

Finally, as Fall and Winter approach, a Butterfly never seems to live long enough and they vanish, as does Tara;

But, we will always remember the Butterfly in all of it's beauty and splendor, as we will Tara;

Each time you see the Butterfly in all of it's beauty, remember the beauty of Tara.
